

Mediatized Science Communication

Science communication is constantly in transition due to technological and social change. Scientific frameworks and requirements are shifting. Science communication reacts to aforementioned changes and adjusts. But with new communication patterns come new communicative challenges and problems. The transformation and consequent challenges affect all areas of science communication, external as well as internal, public as well as across different disciplines or fields and formal as well as informal communication.

The topics of the symposium will be structured around scholarly communication and new media technology, complexity and uncertainty in knowledge and risk societies, fake news and science as well as participatory science.

The aim of this interdisciplinary symposium is to discuss current challenges to science communication by entering into a dialogue with science communication researchers and colleagues of other disciplines.

For more information visit:

<https://www.imf.uni-rostock.de/forschung/kommunikations-und-medienwissenschaft/>

In cooperation with the IAMCR-Section *Mediated Communication,
Public Opinion and Society* and the Department *Knowledge – Culture –
Transformation* at the Interdisciplinary
Faculty of the University of Rostock

Contact details:

University of Rostock
FACULTY OF HUMANITIES

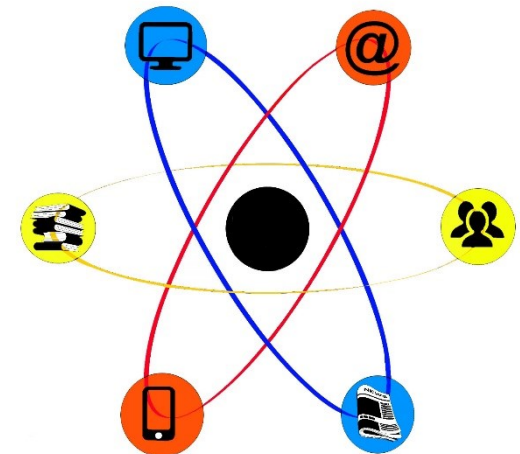

Institute for Media Research
August-Bebel-Straße 28
18055 Rostock

contact: Dr. Corinna Lüthje
Franziska Thiele

Fon+ 49 (0)381 498-2735
Mail corinna.luethje@uni-rostock.de franziska.thiele@uni-rostock.de

Interdisciplinary Symposium

Current Challenges to Mediatized Science Communication

7th to 9th of June 2018 in the main building of the University of Rostock

DFG-Project Mediatized Scientific Communication
Institute for Media Research
Faculty of Humanities

Prof. Dietram Scheufele

Professor for Science Communication at the University of Wisconsin-Madison

Prof. Udo Kragl

Professor for Industrial Chemistry and Vice-Rector for Research and Knowledge Transfer at the University of Rostock

Dr. Birte Fähnrich

Senior researcher at the Center for Political Communication at Zeppelin University and speaker of the Science Communication Section of the DGPuK

Prof. Irene Neverla

Retired Professor of Journalism and Communications and Principal Investigator in the Cluster of Excellence for Climate Research (CLISAP) at University of Hamburg

Program

Thursday 7th of June 2018, 18:00
Main building, auditorium

Public Lecture by Prof. Dietram Scheufele
Response by Prof. Udo Kragl

Friday 8th of June 2018
Main building, auditorium

09:00 – 09:05

Address of welcome by Dr. Corinna Lüthje

09:05 – 11:00

Panel 1: New Media Technology
Keynote by Dr. Birte Fähnrich

11:30 – 13:00

Panel 2: Fake News

14:00 – 15:30

Panel 3: Participation

16:00 – 17:00

Panel 4: Overarching Aspects

Saturday 9th of June 2018
Main building, auditorium

9:30-11:30

Panel 5: Complexity, Insecurity, Risk
Keynote by Prof. Irene Neverla

12:00-13:30

Round Table

Conference Venue and Registration

Conference venue:

Main building of the University of Rostock
Universitätsplatz 1
18055 Rostock

Getting there:

The main building is in the heart of the city center. The closest tram stations to the conference venue are “Neuer Markt” (6 minutes walking distance) and “Lange Straße” (3 minutes walking distance) and can be approached via the tram lines 1, 2, 5 and 6.

Registration:

The public lecture on Thursday is free for everybody.

To register for the symposium please contact franziska.thiele@uni-rostock.de or corinna.luethje@uni-rostock.de.

For further information follow the QR-code:

